		What's Changing and Why
1	Cardinia	What's changing?	Cardinia is joining Myli – My Community Library Ltd, a Not-for Profit and charity that already provides library services to the Shire's of Baw Baw, Bass Coast and South Gippsland. The service the Cardinia community knows and loves will continue to meet and exceed the expectations of the community.
2	Cardinia	Why is Cardinia Shire Council changing?	The City of Casey and Cardinia Shire Council have jointly reached an agreement to pursue a different service model for the libraries in the future, which was prompted by several factors. These include the significant growth and change in demographics of both communities and the Councils wanting to pursue new and separate service models for the library services, along with new legislation in the Local Government Act 2020 that requires the current regional library model be changed in the coming decade. The Councils have realised the benefits in operating separate library services and have started taking the necessary steps to allow them to explore the opportunities for future service models independently.
3	Casey	Why is the City of Casey staying with Casey Cardinia Libraries (CCL)?	After an extensive assessment and community consultation, Casey Council identified that CCL is best placed to be the community's library service provider. Casey will work with the CCL Board and Executive Team to transition CCL into a compliant entity under the Local Government Act 2020.
4	Cardinia	Myli is a Not-for-Profit - What does this mean?	Myli is a not-for-profit with charitable status. Myli will provide opportunities that will benefit members, the community, staff and Council. As a charity, there will be fundraising opportunities that will support investment in library services such as increasing programs and support for members and users. Myli's primary funding comes from Councils and the State Government, and this will continue.
5	Cardinia	When does the change to Myli take place?	Planning for the transition is taking place during October and November 2022 and the transition will be finalised on 30 November 2022.
